Scott Sollom has been working in the field of RCIA for fifteen years. He has co-authored a number of RCIA resources, including “On the Journey” by the Association for Catechumenal Ministry, and “Symbolon: the Catholic Faith Explained”. Scott has worked as a youth minister, as a director of religious education, and as a director of family formation. He is currently an Assistant Professor of Theology at Franciscan University, where he teaches courses on Catechetics and RCIA and the Catechumenate. He loves to dialogue with other practitioners on the principles and practical application of the RCIA process.
